

Dogs on Chains - It's Cruel. And it's Illegal.

Effective July 1, the City of Dallas revised its Animal Ordinances to make it UNLAWFUL to chain or tether a dog except under the strictest circumstances.

Dogs are social animals who crave human companionship. That's why they thrive and behave better when living indoors with their pack -- their human family members. Please consider allowing your tethered dog to become a part of your family. He'll be legal, he'll be happier, and he'll reward you with a lifetime of loyalty and companionship.

If that is just not possible, you'll need a sturdy fence to contain your dog - by law at least 150 sq. ft. of space per adult dog- and access to the inside of a building, a weather-resistant dog house or other type of shelter.

Need more information? Call Dallas Animal Services at 214-670-8246 or email dallasanimaladvocates@gmail.com.

Companions For Life

P.O. Box 794073, Dallas, Texas 75387

972-661-2356 www.companionsforlife.org